Gas Mileage Won't Be Paid To Induce Athletes Anymore

The Coast conference administrators called a special meeting last Monday at Menlo and the net result was to prohibit any school in the conference to offer inducement in the form of mileage payments to individual students.

The whole controversy revolved around the practice of Monterey Peninsula college of paying five cents a mile to six students.

A motion was made that the five cents a mile be considered an inducement. After some discussion, the motion was withdrawn, but the group effectively put the stops on any future action of this sort by ruling that mileage payments from now on would be considered as inducements.

The meeting ended with a discussion of the methods of reporting such things in the future without adverse publicity to the colleges involved before the charges are proved.

Buntin Gets Main Role In Yuletide Drama Production

Hartnell college-community players will present three performances of "Scrooge," Dickens' immortal Christmas story, at Hartnell college Little theater, a student matinee at 3:19 p.m. on December 16, and evening performances on December 17 and December 18, curtain time, eight o'clock. The production will last about 45 minutes.

Principal characters have been selected for the performance and tryouts are continuing for the selection of minor and walk-on parts. Michael Buntin will play "Scrooge"; Ray Wilson, "Bob Cratchit"; Sam Walters, "Ghost of Marley"; Leland Dast, nephew "Fred"; Merri Irving, "Spirit of Christmas Past," and Mrs. Connie Balestrieri, "Spirit of Christmas Present."

This will be the third time in seven years that the Players have produced "Scrooge." However, the interpretation, the direction and the setting will be different than that of former performances, according to Hal Ulrich, director.

Mr. Ulrich reports that because "Scrooge" is such an excellent Christmas show, and the type of thing which can be enjoyed over

Four Hartnell Men Queried For Work By Ranch Official

Four Hartnell students were interviewed by Gerry de Vries, Watsonville Boys' ranch representative, last week, in regard to jobs at the ranch.

The ranch which is modeled after Boys' Town, Neb., was founded in 1941 by Joe Amrein, an alumnus of Boys' Town. It is supported by funds from private donations.

Boys from ages 5 to 15 are accepted to live there. Most of them are referred to the ranch by social workers or welfare agencies.

For information phone Mr. Gerry de Vries, Watsonville 4-5435.

Choir Will Offer Two Major Works At Local Church

The Hartnell choir, under the direction of Mr. Vahe Aslanian, will present a concert December 15 at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Salinas.

The choir will present two major choral works, Pachelbel's "Magnificat in C," and the "Childhood of Christ," by Johann Cristoph Bach.

Soloist in the "Magnificat" are Wilda Wynkoop, soprano; Evelyn Garcia, contralto; Marie (Toni) Oli veira, contralto; Jim Tarantina, tenor; and Staten Johnston, bass.

Soloists in "The Childhood of Christ" are Claudia Brown, soprano; Merri Irving, contralto; Don Gilmore, tenor, and Joe McDaniel, bass.

The "Magnificat" is sung entirely in Latin; an English translation of book. "The Childhood of Christ" is the nativity story of the birth of Christ.

Fifty-five students will participate in this Christmas concert, the choir's third at St. Paul's. The evening performance is scheduled at 8:15.

and over again, it has been very popular with local audiences, bringing out many whole families.

Mr. McCann Has Announced Date Of Band Concert

The Hartnell college band will present a concert assembly for the student body December 1, Mr. L. O. McCann announces.

Highlight of the program will be a selection of musical hits from "Roberta," by Jerome Kern. Other selections scheduled to be presented are "Prairie Lament," "Silhouettes," and "Sunlit Summits."

Featured in the varied program will be a clarinet ensemble and brass choir.

Band members making up the clarinet ensemble are Eldon Delanini, Walter Dodd, Don Whitwam, Larry Roeckner and Patrick Ruiz.

Musicians forming the brass choir are Constancio Gionson, Joe McDaniels and Allen Plake, trumpets; James Tarantina, Edwin Schmidt, and Dr. Jerome Holmes, horns; Chester Amyx and James Carley, trombones; and Charles Bevins, bass horn.

Hartnell A&M Makes Testing Press For Road Department

Among the outstanding accomplishments this year at Hartnell School of Agriculture and Mechanics is the construction of a testing press for the Monterey county road department.

Several machine shop students are setting a precedent this semester by setting up an intricate device which will test the strength of road material, concrete piling and the compaction of dirt fill. Under the watchful eye of Harry E. McDonald, machine shop instructor, and William Garrison six students from Hartnell college and Salinas Union high school hope to have the three-month job completed by December 1.

Both the county and the students stand to gain something.

When the county moves the completed device to its materials testing lab, the county will have a machine which cost thousands of dollars less than market price. The tester will be capable of exerting 300,000 pounds of pressure, a capacity that is hard to find on the market.

In the words of C. I. Bentley, supervisor of industrial education for Salinas school systems, the "fact

Commissioner Are Attending Meet On J. C. Government

Six members of Hartnell college ASB commissioners left yesterday morning to attend the 20th biannual conference of the California Junior College Student Government association in Fresno.

The three-day confab is being staged in spacious Hotel California under the sponsorship of Fresno junior college.

While at the convention, the students will not only attend two dances, a banquet and a variety show but will engage in strenuous

AWS Christmas Gathering to Be Held December 14

The AWS Christmas party will be held December 1, Mrs. Anne Harper, advisor to the group, announced recently.

Committee chairmen have met with their respective committees and plans for the annual event are near completion.

Myleen Fisher, program chairman, and her committee: Carlina Galicia, Dorothy Sarina, Marietta Gonzales, Doris Kitamura, and Joyce Shifley, met this week to conduct their business plans. Proposed schedule for the program will feature the Hartnell girl's quartet. Quartet members are Merri Irving, Sharon Axe, Claudia Brown and Charlotte Eppley.

Community singing, short skits, and dancing are slated for the party's entertainment. Refreshments will be served by the AWS in co-ordination with the Collecon club, and the party will be concluded by the traditional appearance of "Santa Claus."

Hartnell Club Will Hold Chinese Meal On Campus Jan. 12

The Hartnell International club is making plans to hold a Chinese dinner in the men's gym on January 12. President John Acosta appointed Harry Singh chairman of the affair.

Other members of the committee which is to take care of putting on the dinner are: Esther Shikuma, food chairman; Diego Guevara, decoration chairman, and Joanne Snodgrass, finance chairman.

Also discussed at the club's last meeting was a scholarship fund of $1,000 in the treasury. A committee was appointed to look into the situation and make recommendations.

It is reported there will probably be two scholarships. One will be given to a foreign student attending Hartnell and the other to a Hartnell student studying in a foreign country.

Commission to Secure Money

The student commission is taking action in order to secure money that students have promised to pay via student promissory notes. A committee of five was selected by Student Body President Rene Eris to contact the nearly 70 students who still owe money to the student treasury.

Letters will be sent to those who haven't paid their debts. And they will be urged to do so as soon as possible. When signed, the notes were expected to be paid off within a reasonable amount of time. Yet some students still persist in allowing the student treasury to foot their bills.

It doesn't seem reasonable to us that this attitude is taken. The advantage of the promissory note is to help the student but unless some change in the attitude towards payment is made, we can't see why this promissory idea should be permitted.

Maybe if there was a threat to stop allowing promissory notes, there might be a change in the payment holdbacks.

The Hartnell library is now open four nights during the week for the use of students. Cooperation and attendance at the night sessions will determine whether the opening shall continue throughout the year.

We urge all students to use the library as much as possible so that it will be kept open.

the long interludes of music over FM stations. It will be hooked into the sound system so that it can be used interchangeably with the phonograph.

The plan of the Student Union committee is to play some background music over the system consisting of semiclassical and quiet numbers.

To accomplish this, someone must be constantly in attendance at the lounge to change the records. This will be done by members of the committee.

Another function of the committee members is to see that the code of conduct for the use of the lounge is observed. The code is as follows: (1) Students are permitted to smoke. (2) Shoes are to be kept off the tables. (3) There shall be no "horseplay." (4) There shall be no loud, boisterous noise. (5) There shall be no eating or drinking on the lounge premises.

Anyone guilty of violating any of these rules will be referred to the supreme court.

Students and faculty of Hartnell School of Agriculture and Mechanics have turned inventors and come up with the latest in introductory tables for acetylene welding classes.

The overall design of the table, the table top, positioners and benches were devised in detail by Donald Dudley, A. and M. instructor, and Archie Hampton, junior college evening school faculty member, and were constructed by a dozen students over a period of two semesters.

Finding a suitable material for the table top was the biggest problem that faced the inventors. They wanted to mould a material that would withstand constant contact with welding torches. The solution of this problem was a big step forward, an achievement of which Hartnell A. and M. can be proud.

They found their answer in a mixture of crushed fire brick and Luminite, a special type of cement. Dudley and C. I. Bentley, supervisor of industrial education for Salinas school systems, delved into a whirlpool of technical terms while proudly demonstrating the table top to newsmen this week.

"There's nothing like it anywhere," Bentley said, "it's strictly a Hartnell A. and M. product."

The introductory table is only a part of the huge welding building on the A. and M. campus in Alisal.

TESTER . . .

Hartnell students working on the project are George Kaboshi and Bill Rice of Morgan Hill, and Robert Ceyla of Gonzales; high school students are David McNab, Earl Varger and Marvin Lewis, all seniors at Salinas high school.

Promissory Notes To Be Collected For Student Body

The ASB commissioners took action at their regular meeting Monday to spur payment of student promissory notes.

President Rene Eris appointed a committee of five to contact approximately 70 students who owe the student body treasury various amounts of money, mostly for student body cards. The committee will send letters to the debtors encouraging payment.

Committee members are Marie (Toni) Oliveira, chairman; Frank Sherrill, Sam Zuckswert, Myrleen Fisher, and Marilyn Ingols.

In other action at the meeting it was suggested that a concrete system for class reunions be set up at Hartnell. A system where a class president and secretary would be elected on a permanent basis to contact class members for reunions was discussed to some extent.

Along these lines, Sophomore President George Dudley announced that he would "start the ball rolling" by instructing Vadastine McCray, sophomore secretary, to compile a list of 1955-56 sophomore names and addresses.

At last week's session, Sam Zuckswert, chairman of the Student Union sound system committee reported that Gadsby's Music company of Salinas had submitted a bid for $667.27. Zuckswert pointed out that this does not include a tuner or an antenna and that bids from other local music companies were being asked.

Zuckswert had no further information at this week's meeting, but President Eris called a special gathering for Wednesday to discuss the matter. Zuckswert said that other bids would probably be in by that time.

In other business at last week's meeting, the Women's Athletic association was granted the food concessions at basketball games this year.

Hartnell Library Is Open Evenings For Student Use

The library is now temporarily open each evening, Monday through Thursday, 7-9 p.m., for the convenience of students.

Faculty members in charge of the library evenings are Mr. John Schwellenbach, Monday; Miss Lulla Wiens, Tuesday; Mr. William Kunhart, Wednesdays; and Mrs. Maybelle Ruse, Thursdays.

This new program, approved by Hartnell President Stuart Dufour, will continue on a trial basis until after Thanksgiving. Results from tabulations made of the attendance will determine if the program will continue throughout the school year, and the final selection of week nights and hours the library will be open.

Miss Wiens urges all students who wish to maintain the library evenings to respond by using it this final week.

Panther's Claw

By CLIFF PLETSCHET

MOTTO OF THE WEEK: The incomparable George Dudley hailed us down this week and gifted us with the following:

"If you remain calm and collected while everyone around you is confused and panicky, then perhaps you don't understand the situation."

Letgeorgedoit Dudley: A magnificent motto manufacturer.

* * * * *
SCRATCHIN' AWAY: Nothing much to report this week except that M.P.C. is in for a big surprise next Thursday. At that time they will go down to defeat at the hands of the Panthers by a score that will read something like 25-13. . . . Speaking of the Mighty Peculiar Crowd, we heard this week that some scribe dubbed Eddings of that school (?) likes to make it Mighty Potent College. He has a corner in the school rag called "Tid Bitters" or something, and there he displays nonsense.

* * * * *
THE BABBLER AND THE TALEBEARER: Joe Saffels of our school ought to be hanged in effigy or something. He gave three M.P.C.'ers who were hitchhiking to Santa Cruz, a ride the other day. And he didn't ask for a nickel's worth of fare. . . . Jack Wilson of Hartnell entered some stock in the livestock exposition in San Francisco the other week. With their entries in the stall across from him was Fred McMurray and June Haver. "Real friendly," says Jack. ("Really friendly," we corrected.) . . . Joe Jellison and Marlene Kojan have been in love with each other for such a long time that they're getting to the point where they can't stand each other. Eh? . . . Three Hartnell coeds and a Hart fellow (B. W.) held a footrace in a graveyard at midnight one day last week. You could call it a party, but sort of a dead one.

* * * * *
CORRUPTION: This column is momentarily dictated to by the notorious Pi Delta Kappa fraternity. The bosses of that group this week sent an ultimatum: Either we mention Pledge Crocker or heads will roll within the ranks of the Hartnell students who are frat pledges. The ultimatum doesn't make sense, but I suppose by mentioning Pledge Crocker we are saving the lives of Pledges Klempnauer, Gill, Bransetter, etc.

* * * * *
THESE CWAZY GOILS: Another mysterious organization is in evidence around Hartnell these days. It's the Anti-F.B.P. group and has an all-female membership of eight. We are supposed to be all confused to death over what F.B.P. could possibly mean, but it's simply "FootBall Players." They display posters in secret code, hold midday meetings in remote parking lots and perform all sorts of acts to arouse the interest of practically no one. To be further expository (in case you are still with me, dear readers), members are Herman, Phillips and Phillips, Oliveira, Taylor, Dales, Ames, and Pepper. Ho, hum.

* * * * *
NOW HEAR THIS: At the risk of appearing too vitriolic we would like to discongratulate (to coin a new word) the freshman class for the type of cooperation they gave the members of the yearbook staff. There are over 500 freshmen at Hartnell. Only about 220 of those were cooperative and spirited enough to appear at the inner court Monday for freshman picture taking. To those who did appear, the yearbook staff says "Thanks," and to those who didn't appear, the yearbook staff says, "Don't slam us next spring when the yearbook comes out sans your mug."

THE COOL AND QUIET

By JOHN LAUE

Every time one jazz trumpet man talks to another, there occurs somewhere in the conversation something like this:

"Man, do I dig Chet. He has the coo-o-lest tone."

"Yeah, you ain't just flappin' your cap. That cat wails the most."

The man they're talking about is Chet Baker. Chet is almost unique in the trumpet world, because he combines a legitimate tone and conception with richly inventive jazz improvisations.

Chet Baker was born in Yale, Oklahoma, and lived there until he was 10 when his family moved to California. He first began to play trumpet in the Glendale junior high marching and dance bands.

In 1946 he was drafted and played with the 298th Army band. After his discharge he studied music at El Camino J.C. in Los Angeles.

Not wanting to miss a chance to play with the San Francisco Presidio Army band, he re-enlisted in 1950. The 10 months he spent in San Francisco were invaluable to him because it gave him an opportunity to go to the jam sessions in the area and become intimately acquainted with jazz techniques.

In the summer of 1952, when Charlie Parker was touring the West Coast, the "Bird" heard Chet and signed him for the tour. Shortly after this Chet joined the Gerry Mulligan group.

At the present time, he is recording with his own group and is outstandingly successful.

A record which is fast becoming a modern jazz classic is "My Funny Valentine" which he cut with the Gerry Mulligan quartet for Pacific Jazz.

Some people have expressed interest lately in starting a jazz club at Hartnell. Such a club would not only include lovers of modern jazz, but fans of Dixieland and other types as well.

Activities during the meetings would be listening to talks, jazz records, and anything else the group wants. Anyone interested in forming such a club please contact me.—J.L.

Woman At Hartnell Studying Business, Here From Tehran

By Mrs. Marjorie Hitchcock

Ma Sima Ghahremani is a name that, to western ears, suggests colorful bazaars and jeweled turbans and veiled dancing girls. But Mrs. Ghahremani herself suggests none of these things. She is a quiet-spoken, quietly dressed mother of four who is studying at Hartnell college, studying, not science or philosophy or literature, but business administration.

Mrs. Ghahremani, at her home in Tehran, Iran, had read and heard so much about the advantages of a United States education that she sent her four children to be educated here. And then she decided that she, too, would come to the United States to be with them and to finish the education she thought finished thirty years ago when she graduated from high school.

The daughter of the family has completed her education and is returning to Iran to teach. One son, with whom Mrs. Ghahremani lives in Watsonville, works during the day and attends San Jose State at night. Another son is at the University of Oklahoma working for a master's degree in engineering, and the other is in Los Angeles studying to be an architectural engineer.

Though few women work in Iran, Mrs. Ghahremani's husband, who was a general in the air force, was killed in a crash during the war and so she worked as a director of a hospital. She hopes, by virtue of her United States education, to obtain a better position in business administration when she returns.

The Iranian woman appears to have a broader and happier philosophy than the famous poet of her native land. "God is in every church," she said, and though of the Moslem faith, which she pointed out is very different, she attends a Christian church in Watsonville.

Charge accounts and canned goods are almost unheard of in Iran, Mrs. Ghahremani reported. And she misses the servants which almost everyone at home could have. Whether or not she has picked up the reputedly bad habits of the servantless American housewife concerning charge accounts, and the can and can opener, she didn't say.

College Pins Are Here for Sophs

Sophomores who have not given any thought of having a memento of their school days should see the list of school pins in the commission office in the Student Union building. George Dudley, president of the sophomore class, will take orders for the pins.

There are two samples on the bulletin board at the present time. The pins come in several designs and metals. Gold plated pins with two letters, "HC," and the numerals "56" are priced at 65 cents. In sterling silver with safety catches, the price is $1.10. Also in sterling silver, with three letters, "HJC," the price is $1.20.

Hart Women Attend MPC; Compete In Sport Activities

Vets Will Handle Blood Drive For Hartnell Pupils

The Hartnell Veteran's club laid plans for the staging of a blood drive recently. The club participated in a blood drive last year and it was hailed as one of the most successful drives in recent years.

Committees were chosen as to the many projects which must be undertaken to insure a large turnout. A delegation will handle transportation, another group will decorate the cars and trucks used in the parade, and another group will handle the over-all advertising and publicity.

The local television station, KSBW, will donate approximately fifteen minutes free time. The task of writing a show will also be left to the veterans.

The blood drive will be held December 5, and will be in connection with the Salinas chapter of the Red Cross. The blood donated by the Hartnell veterans and students will be shipped directly to a veteran's hospital. The hours will be from ten to five.

Transportation will be furnished from the school parking lot via school buses and private cars.

Commissioners Talk To Engineers

Ed de Mars and John Waterman of the Monterey county planning commission appeared before engineering students at Hartnell college this week to explain the activities of the commission.

Fifty-one students of Mr. William R. Bullis' engineering 48 class heard De Mars outline some of the work and problems of the planning board. Waterman displayed maps and De Mars explained how they showed population growth, transportation, traffic, migration, types of business and zoning for the Salinas area.

He also used the Carmel valley and Moss Landing areas as typical examples of rapidly changing activities.

De Mars also pointed out the opportunities in this interesting type of profession and the line of personal interest and kind of training needed to enter it.

Both De Mars and Waterman are former Hartnell students.

Two teams from the Hartnell Women's Athletic association traveled recently to Monterey Peninsula college for an afternoon of basketball and volleyball competition.

Deanna Dales captained the Hartnell basketball team. Players were: forwards, Marilyn Ross, Marie Oliveira, Maybeth Atkins, Sue Ames, and Virginia Persson; guards, Miss Dales, Joanne Taylor, Marion Phillips, Nancy Herman, Lorene Cahlah and Sarah Phillips.

This college playoff marked the first time the Hartnell girls had played under the rule of allowing a girl to place one or both hands on a ball already securely held and thus make it a tie ball.

Players on the two competing volleyball teams were Captain Carlina Galicia, Betty Munoz, Murleen Fisher, Doris Kitamura, Carlina Galicia, Gloria Felice, Rositta Borja, Dorothy Garcia, Janet Tomayonis, Janet Lowry, Nancy Hagler and Carolyn Zook.

Only casualty of the two games was an injured ankle received by an MPC girl who was accidentally hit.

Gym Is Crowded For 'Sockarino,' Ski Club Dance

The Hartnell gymnasium was crowded last Friday night as the Ski Club's "sockarino" dance came off in fine fashion.

The dance was held immediately after last week's football game in which Hartnell tied San Jose junior college, 26-26. It was a fitting finish to a night which held much suspense for players and spectators on both sides.

To furnish music for the affair the Ski club engaged the "Rhythm Kings," a local musical organization consisting of nine pieces.

As is the case with some of the other bands which have played at Hartnell dances, the group contained a large percentage of students here.

Hartnell-MPC 'Traditional' Set For Thanksgiving Day

Final Score Will Determine Success Of Squads; 8-Win Record Favors MPC

By LEN KLEMPNAUER

When the Hartnell Panthers emerge from the gridiron after next Thursday's game with Monterey Peninsula college, the final score will determine whether or not the Panthers have had a successful football season.

In defeating their league rivals, Hartnell players and followers term the past grid season "successful."

The Panthers staged three drills this week in preparing for the big game. Three first stringers, Liggett Lancaster and Dave Crocker, halfbacks, and center Bill Worrell, have been on the injury list and are doubtful starters. The loss of any one of this trio will greatly hurt the Panthers' chances against the Lobos.

Guard Byron Bird and Art Lopez, halfback, are expected to be back in the lineup after recovering from injuries received earlier this year.

At stake in the Thanksgiving contest is "Hogan's Keg," symbol of supremacy between Hartnell and MPC. Of late, it has been the symbol of Hartnell supremacy as the Lobos haven't been able to top the big "Cats."

Hartnell will be idle this week end while the Lobos tackle Citrus jaycees. They'll be seeking their ninth win of the season.

Last week Monterey topped College of Sequoias, 26-8, Hartnell lost to COS earlier in the year, 19-9.

In league competition, the Lobos were swamped by Menlo, but defeated both East Contra Costa and San Jose easily. On the other hand, Hartnell tied Menlo and San Jose while racking up ECC.

Harts Come Back; Tie San Jose In Conference Game

By MARION PHILLIPS

The Armistice day game ended in a 26-26 tie for Hartnell and San Jose J.C. at the Salinas Union high school stadium.

The inspired Jaguars from San Jose stamped the Panthers in the first period of the game. The Jags scored twice, both touchdowns being made by Dale Daggett, fullback.

Hartnell got back into the game when they recovered a San Jose fumble on the 30-yard line. Halfback Dave Crocker and Liggett Lancaster moved the pigskin to the 15 where Quarterback Takeo Hirahara got off a pass to End Hal Boute in pay dirt. Fullback Ronnie Bernal kicked the extra point and the Panthers trailed, 13-7.

San Jose lost the ball on downs and Hartnell took over again on the 32. Lancaster pushed up to the 40 and Bernal picked up the first down. After being thrown for a loss, Lancaster picked up another first down. Bernal churned up to the 23 where Hirahara tossed to End Larry Butts for the second touchdown.

San Jose added one more TD in the first half.

In the third quarter Crocker returned the kickoff to the 50. Bernal picked up a first down and Hartnell started to move. Bernal got to the 20 and a few plays later Hirahara sneaked over from the one. Bernal's conversion attempt was blocked, knotting the score at 19-19.

In the final period each team scored. After holding San Jose on their own two, Hartnell took possession of the ball. However, the Harts fumbled, the Jags took over, and scored from three yards out.

Halfback Bobby Fierro of Hartnell took the next kickoff and raced 22 yards to Hartnell's 32. A few plays later, Fierro got away for the longest run of the evening. The speedy back hit the right side of the line, then churned 57 yards before being dropped on the 10. Bernal scored through the middle a little after and kicked the extra point.

Rams Beat Harts With Conversions

Three missed conversions proved to be the downfall of the Hartnell Panthers as they lost to the Fresno jaycees Rams, 27-25, November 4, at Fresno.

Led by fullback J. C. White, the Rams jumped to an early lead. But the combined Panther attack, paced by quarterback Takeo Hirahara, came back to keep the game within limits.

The loss was the fourth of the year for Hartnell.

Mazzucatelli. Of those, Bond, Harris, and Casper have consistently finished either first or second in the meets already concluded.
